Project Description

This $36.2M project which consists of the restoration of eroded coastal dune systems, or beach berms, by replacing approximately 2 million cubic yards (CY) of lost sand attributed to Hurricanes Matthew and Irma with beach compatible sand from commercial dredging sources. This project encompasses approximately 8.9 miles within a 41.5-mile stretch along the Atlantic coastline from east of SR A1A (Ponte Vedra Blvd.) to Vilano Beach. The project also requires daily coordination with sea turtle and shorebird nesting activities.
